

Workbox Overview

Place a piece of Velcro on the back of the owl-numbers (or subject labels). Then place the other pieces of Velcro on the Schedule Strip and on each workbox.

The owl numbers (or subjects) are placed on the front of the workbox in the morning.

As students complete their work, they remove the number from the front of the workbox (or magazine box) and place it on the schedule strip so they know they have completed that task.

To plan your week, decide how many times each subject will be covered each week. Then fill in the grid and use the planner to re-organize the workboxes each day.

With this plan in place, the routine can be varied while still ensuring the main subjects are being covered.
