

Spelling Word Sorts, Activities & Games

We have used All About Spelling for years and years. We love this program because it lays out spelling rules in a straight-forward manner. I can't rave enough about this program and how beneficial it's been for our family through the years. (All three of my kids used this program from start to finish!) We have used the entire series from Book 1 through Book 7.

I found that my kids also really loved playing spelling games and began making word sort activities and various games to supplement what we were doing for spelling.

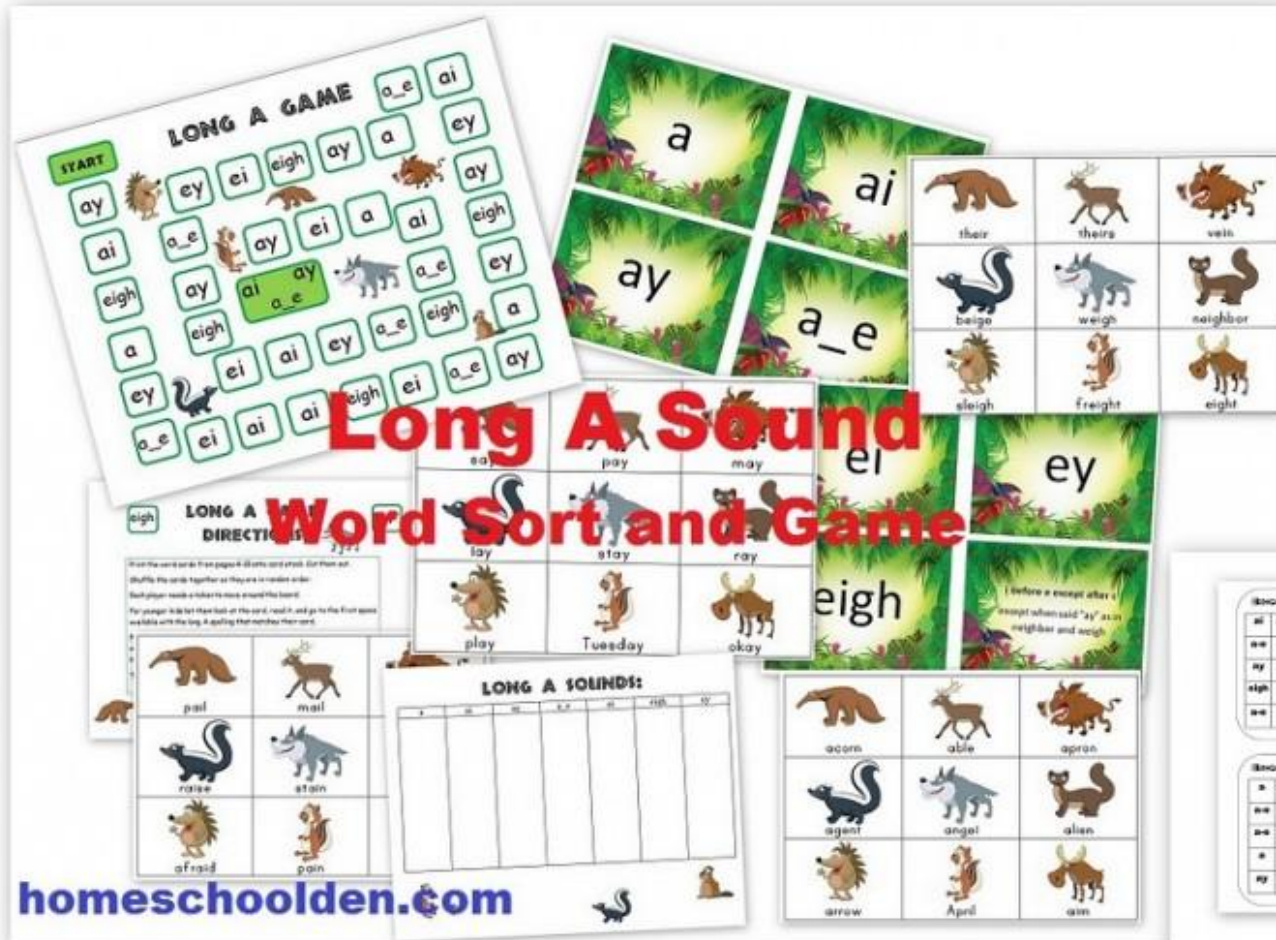

My kids LOVE the games and will beg to play more. What more can a homeschool Mom ask for, right?!

Below is a quick preview of each of the packets. At this point, these are the sets you can purchase the following Spelling Word Sorts & Activity Packets:

There are 2 Long-I activities.

The first set I made for my daughter when she was quite young. It

I made this long /i/ word sort file folder game for ED. She went over many of these words (and rules) last year, but she will definitely need some review this fall. She chose the castle and unicorn theme, though I know my other daughter would never have gone for that!! So, I also included the same word sort with colorful circles. The object is for kids to sort the words quickly into different word families. This helps them with their visual memory of the words.

Long "I" Sound Spelling Sort

When ED reviewed the Long I sound again, I made a new set of activities and added them to the Long A – Long I Packet. This time, she was reviewing a number of rules for words that make the Long I Sound. This part of the file includes some bingo cards as well. This has been a big hit with my daughter!

- y – my, spy, fry, fly, etc.
- ie — tie, lie, pie, etc.
- i-e — nice, wide, bite, etc.
- igh — night, right, tight, etc.
- ind – kind, find, grind, etc.
- i – item, icyle, item, ivory, etc.
